Re: VSGX Ongoing Support

Compucom recently announced that after 12/31/2014 there would be no further support for Wang VS hardware. This announcement has been widely misinterpreted.

There are no plans to discontinue support of the VSGX or Lightspeed products. Furthermore, operational support, formerly known as “TSS”, will continue to be available indefinitely.

The Wang VS product is an amazingly robust and scalable piece of software that still has a useful life ahead of it.
